INTRODUCTION

Employability skills, often referred to as Workplace or Career Readiness skills, have for many years been a recognizable component of standards and curriculum in all career and technical education (CTE) programs.

Since the redesign and redevelopment of state standards began in earnest in 2011, a determination was made to establish a new, updated list of employability skill standards that would apply uniformly to all CTE programs versus being customized and incorporated into each and every set of CTE standards.

After considerable review to verify alignment with the national employability skills, such as those in the 21st Century Skills, Idaho Career & Technical Education, with the support of key stakeholders, supports the implementation of the twenty-one Workplace Readiness Standards recommended by the Career and Technical Education Consortium of States (CTECS) and used by the Commonwealth of Virginia and state of Nevada. Those standards were validated through extensive research conducted by the Weldon Cooper Center of the University of Virginia and an industry review process involving more than three hundred employers.

The twenty-one standards are organized in three areas: (1) Personal Qualities and People Skills; (2) Professional Knowledge and Skills; and (3) Technology Knowledge and Skills. The standards are designed to ensure students graduate from high school properly prepared with skills employers prioritize as the most important. The standards provide a means through which students may acquire and exhibit leadership qualities, as leadership development principles are embedded in most, if not all, of the standards. Students are expected to demonstrate proficiency in the Workplace Skills for Career Readiness upon completion of an Idaho PTE cluster or pathway which, in most cases, is three to six credits depending on the district credit model.

To fully prepare for college and careers upon exiting high school, however, students must also be able to read, write, compute and solve problems at levels of proficiency necessary to function in the workplace and in college without the need for remediation. Academic attainment may be demonstrated by successfully fulfilling state requirements and/or by achieving other nationally-recognized credentials as required by employers for a particular career field.

The alignment section of the document shows where the performance indicators support the Idaho Academic Content Standards in Science (based on the Next Generation Science Standards) and the English Language Arts and Mathematics (based on the Common Core State Standards). Where correlation with an academic content standard exists, students in the program perform learning activities that support, either directly or indirectly, achievement of the academic content standards that are listed.

To further the development of leadership and technical skills, students have opportunities to participate in one or more Career and Technical Student Organizations (CTSOs). CTSOs develop character, citizenship, and the technical, leadership and teamwork skills essential for the workforce and their further education. Their activities are considered a part of the instructional day when they are directly related to the competencies and objectives in the course. The seven approved Idaho CTSOs are: DECA; BPA (Business Professionals of America); FCCLA (Family, Career, and Community Leaders of America); FFA; HOSA (Future Health Professionals); SkillsUSA: and TSA (Technology Student Association).
